

SPRING IN MICHIGAN

May 8, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

Well, spring is here folks. This is a hi-res photo, so you will have to download it to see the detail.

This is a view of a small stream choked with watercress. Growing along the banks, the bright green largish plants are skunk cabbage. The bright yellow flowers are Marsh Marigolds. This shot gives you some idea of how it is here in Michigan when spring finally does come.

